Label the following

The image shows a screenshot of the Microsoft Excel interface. The ribbon at the top includes tabs for Home, Insert, Page Layout, Formulas, Data, Review, and View. The ribbon is divided into groups: Clipboard, Font, Alignment, Number, Styles (with sub-groups for Conditional Formatting, Format as Table, and Cell Styles), Cells (with sub-groups for Insert, Delete, and Format), and Editing (with sub-groups for Sort & Filter and Find & Select). The Name Box shows 'E12'. The Formula Bar is empty. The worksheet grid has columns labeled A through O and rows labeled 1 through 25. A thick black crosshair is drawn over the grid, intersecting at cell E12. A label 'NAME BOX' with an arrow points to the Name Box. A label 'FORMULA BAR' with an arrow points to the Formula Bar. A label 'ROW' with an arrow points to the row number '12'. A label 'SHEET NAME' with an arrow points to the 'Sheet1' tab. A label 'COLUMN' with an arrow points to the column letter 'E'. A label 'CELL' with an arrow points to the cell at the intersection of column E and row 12.
